The university administration is limiting adjunct faculty to 10 total credits (day and evening combined).

The Worcester chapter president requested a poling of whether MSCA members are being required to use SSTA. Only Salem reported that they are being required to use the system to approve student worker hours.

Westfield
There has been five chapter grievances in the past six weeks. The new university president is learning how to work with unionized employees and is proving difficult to deal with.

There have been changes in student advising this past semester.
The university is attempting to schedule a common meeting time for campus activities and meetings. The chapter president asked that the other chapters be polled as to whether they had open periods.

The Academic Planning Committee has been formed. They have been charged with looking at academic affairs’ vision as well as a potential reorganization.

An investiture ceremony will be held next week for the new university president.

Salem

The administration has increased course caps and minimums without consulting department chairs.

Evening programs have been eliminated without the consultation with or notice to faculty or department chairs.

Consultant James will be coming to Salem to talk about Question 2 in the near future.

Parking continues to be an issue.

MCLA

There has been a few cases of faculty absenteeism.

One of the College’s vice presidents was recently dismissed. MCLA’s Executive Vice President has had a great deal of responsibility placed under her control.

MassArt

Chapter President Mason inquired about the status of old PTR cases. President O’Donnell stated that he sent documents to the chapter president that morning and that the next step is to put together a position and approach the administration.

Framingham

MSCA members are repeatedly being asked to donate to the campus fund raising campaign.

Two faculty members up for tenure last year and who did not satisfy the time requirement to be granted tenure with promotion received tenure with promotion.

Information was requested by the chapter leadership regarding policies on public intellectual work.
Fitchburg
The university foundation purchased a block of buildings in downtown Fitchburg. The buildings, including a theatre and a maker-space, will need renovation. There is concern that the university’s debt load is too high to pursue the project.

The university will be holding an inauguration of its new president in October.

Bridgewater
There has been issues of faculty fighting among themselves in a few departments.

The EEO office has become a place where faculty are levying accusations against each. President O’Donnell recommended that Consultant James be contacted for assistance with day members and Consultant Lewis be contacted for assistance with DGCE faculty.

Old Business
Gender Pay Equity Study
Nothing new to report.

Stonehouse Scholarship Fund
It was noted that it would be easier (for a number of reasons) to have this scholarship funded by MSCA member donations rather than out of the MSCA reserve fund.

The meeting adjourned at 2:45 pm.

Respectfully submitted,

Nancy George
MSCA Secretary
