Meeting with BHE:
On May 10th President O’Donnell met with MTA Budget Director Sean Nelson and Senior Budget Analyst Joe Wallerstein to explain the methodology of formulary increases. Nelson has left the BHE for a position in the University of Wisconsin system and Victor NG, who was the point person for computing the formulary increases, is now the Payroll manager at Roxbury Community College. Mike Murray had requested that he meet with them.

House Bill 1434:
On May 31st MTA lobbyist Sean King and President O’Donnell testified before the Joint Committee on Public Service. They testified in favor of House Bill 1434 a bill filed by Rep. O’Day that would require the governor to include the cost of the roll out years of collective bargaining agreements in the governor’s subsequent budgets. This (in theory) would release funds to reduce student fees.

As written, the bill is problematic. MTA has drafted and submitted to Rep. O’Day and the committee revised language that would modify Chapter 29 rather than Chapter 150E of the General Laws.

The MSCA and Rep. O’Day were the only people to testify on the bill in person.
