The MTA Higher Education Conference will be held January 10 and 11, 2020.

It was requested that at the next MSCA Board meeting that chapters be asked what professional development opportunities are available on each campus for faculty and librarians. This is to assist the MTA in potentially assisting with faculty/librarian professional development opportunities.

Chapter Reports:
Worcester
Chapter President Bullens has reminded Worcester faculty/librarians that Continuing Scholarship money applications are due December 31.

The chapter president provided Board members with a brief review of a recently won grievance.

Chapter President Bullens recently met with the provost to go over guidelines regarding the tenure committee and other personnel action rules and regulations. It was important that this review was provided due to a lack of knowledge of these personnel action rules and regulations.

Westfield
The president of Westfield is in the middle of his evaluation. The evaluation is being performed by AskQ. Members of the campus community were interviewed as a part of the evaluation. Evaluation comments are freely available in the Board of Trustees’ minutes. It is to be noted that presidential evaluations are mandated by law. Details of the evaluation process are on the BHE website. Most current presidents are performing self-evaluations on their own performances.
Faculty/librarians are not participating in the provost search. If there is no new provost by the time the current provost leaves, the institution will hire a temporary, interim provost.

The voluntary separation agreement has gone through for AFSCME, NUP, and APA. 43 staff members took advantage of this.

There is a $1.6 million shortfall in the institution’s budget this year.

The chapter president invited all Board members to attend the December 11, 2019, Board of Trustees meeting.

There is a struggle between HR and faculty/librarians. HR is requiring department chairs and academic affairs to weigh in on medical leaves. Consultant James noted that all faculty/librarians need is a medical note to take a leave. There is no need for any additional approval.

A day long retreat will be held in the near future for faculty/librarians.

_Salem_

The Executive Committee met yesterday. It was agreed to have three to four meeting in which APA, AFSCME, and students are invited to talk about what Salem State is and to build unity.

A panel of faculty has asked for 20 minutes at the next Board of Trustees meeting to talk about what Salem State is. 80% of students on the north shore go to Salem State. 50% of Salem State students are Pell Grant eligible.

The chapter president spoke of a number of Title IX issues on campus.

A retiring Art and Design faculty member has complained about unsafe working conditions in the ceramics room. The vice president of facilities stepped in to rectify the safety concerns. There were concerns that if the problems were not corrected that the Art and Design department would have courses removed from their program due to a lack of facilities to hold the classes in.

The chapter is providing members with regular “e-blasts” that communicate what is happening on campus in the chapter. The chapter is also hosting coffee in the parking lot to talk about the MSCA and for a way for members to see us and reach out to members.

It is surmised that retrenchment is coming. The provost is studying what programs may be dissolved. Class sizes are being increased, sections are being reduced. The university is tying to shut down the pool, which will impact SMS classes.

_MMA_

There is a parking grievance.

The rest of the MMA report will be submitted over email.

Framingham
Framingham chapter Director Rutter will be on sabbatical spring semester. Sarah Pilkenton will be her replacement.

The new provost is not easy to work with.

Director Rutter and other faculty have been working on a report on the academic affairs model, which is due today at 5pm to the university president and provost.

The provost wants to hire a search firm to hire individuals for positions that have not yet been created.

Fitchburg
The gender harassment workshop was a success. Fifty people attended.

There has been a drop in enrollment. Courses have been cancelled and morale is low. $1 million budget shortfall. APA and NUP hiring has been increased. It was requested that these issues and strategies to combat them be discussed at a later date.

Bridgewater
There was a town hall meeting held. Fred Clark pointed out that Salem and Fitchburg are doing poorly financially.

The provost observed a faculty member’s teaching.

Twelve grievances have been filed regarding evaluations.

Two new employees were hired recently: Senator Vinny DeMacedo and former MCLA president, Mary Grant.

There have been privacy issues with the online management system.
